

How to do.....

A bug house

Having a home to live in makes us feel safe. As winter gets closer the bugs in the garden are looking for somewhere safe to spend the winter. How about making a bug house for them.

You will need:

An empty flower pot.

Short sticks, lumps of moss, pine cones, acorns and dead leaves – I went for a walk though the woods at the top of our road and collected a bag full of things that were lying on the floor.

What to do:

1. Start by putting the flower pot on its side.
2. Put short pieces of stick longways into the pot. Try to arrange it so that the pot stops rolling around.
3. Add the moss, cones, acorns and dead leaves until the pot is about half full.
4. If you want make a sign to say that it is a bug house.
5. Find a quiet place in the garden for your house and leave it for the bugs to find.
